

The Chamber Chatter

April, 2010

As presented by the River Valley Chamber Board of Directors

Hello River Valley!

The Maine Hysterical Society-featuring Randy Judkins will be at the Rumford Falls Auditorium on April 10th; doors open at 5pm and the show starts at 6pm. Tickets are on sale at Davis Florist, United Insurance-Western Maine Agency, Community Concepts, Canton Town Office, Erik Designs and the Chamber Office. We hope to have a sell-out so pick up your tickets today!

The Rumford Information Center will be re-opening for the season April 5th with hours from 10-2pm. The Chamber manages the Information Center and we have a great group of volunteers who man the center and are ready to greet the tourists and offer them assistance in their traveling needs. First and foremost the volunteers will be offering up different places of interest for them to see right here in the River Valley; places to shop, eat and visit while they are in our area. We would like to make the River Valley area a destination point and we certainly have the resources for that. We are also looking for more volunteers for the upcoming months ahead. In June the Information Center will be open from 9-5pm and we are looking for volunteers to work in shifts; 9-1pm and 1-5pm. If you have a great personality, enjoy meeting people from all over the world and have some extra time on your hands, please stop by the Information Center and pick up an application to volunteer.

The Chamber has a new face in the Chamber Administrator's position. Christie Volkernick, will be filling in at the Chamber Office throughout the summer. Christie is a 3rd year college student and is home visiting her parents until mid August where she will return to college in Massachusetts.
